Question 1: Question 1: What is the purpose of React?

Answer: The purpose of React is to split the app into multiple components and reuse those components. It also updates content using a virtual DOM, which is better than updating content using DOM manipulation. Furthermore, it allows for states and props that help in updating variables across pages.

Student's Answer:

React is used for splitting an app into multiple reusable components, efficiently updating the UI using a virtual DOM, using states and props to update variables across pages. For the last point, see the fourth bullet after the image.
